Dear Danny,

Working in the health industry, I am fortunate to have experienced many forms of healing work, and specifically, to have received many massages from very good practitioners.

The 6 bodywork sessions with you have been so different from all the others that I told many friends and family members. Truly a sign of an outstanding experience.

From my vantage point as a psychiatric doctor, I believe that many people need the type of work you do, yet are unaware it even exists. There is simply a gap in medicine and are there few opportunities to help bring our awareness to the energetics of the human body as you do.

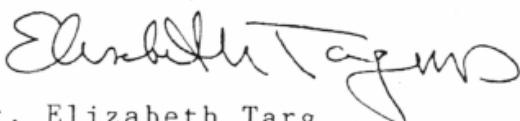

Your bodywork is different because your style makes the physical and energetic union of the body simple, apparent, and easily accessible. It is not an esoteric experience, you just do it. I would say that most people would share this experience from your sessions.

The range of tools at your disposal added to the quality of my experience. They helped me "break set" and remove the psychological and mental barriers around my mind and brain. This helped me build a sense of partnership with all the physical parts and emotional states in my body. As well, this opened and expanded my range of emotions. I felt more light, alive, in touch, hopeful, less judgmental and delighted after your sessions. They were colorful child-like dances.

At the very first session I felt safe and that you are trustworthy. I could then relinquish the need to be in charge, knowing that you would take care of me. You were slow and steady, systematic, never rushed, and were very generous with your time and effort.

Your etiquette, draping and respect for personal privacy was always professional. You were always careful to ask and were totally concerned with my care. I look forward to receiving more sessions in the future.

Best wishes,

Dr. Elisabeth Targ
